

BY-LAWS

I. RULES OF PROCEDURE OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

1. The General Assembly shall be convened as provided for in Article 9e and conduct business as provided for in Article 10 of the Statute.

Agenda

2. A provisional agenda for each ordinary session of the General Assembly shall be drawn up by the President, approved by the Council and dispatched by the Secretary General to Members.

3. The provisional agenda for an ordinary session shall include:

- a) all items the inclusion of which may have been decided by the General Assembly at a previous session;
- b) items approved by the Council;
- c) any item the inclusion of which has been agreed upon by the Council upon the request of a Member;
- d) the President's report on the state of EAAP;
- e) statement of accounts;
- f) approval of the minutes of the previous General Assembly;
- g) the election of the Council and appointment of Auditors;
- h) applications for membership;
- i) making of Distinguished Service, A.M. Leroy Fellowship and other awards;
- j) approval of the budget.
- k) Date and place of the next EAAP Annual Meeting and the date and place of the next ordinary session of the General Assembly.

4. Any Member Organization can submit to the Secretariat observations on the provisional agenda enclosed in the letter of invitation, not later than one month before the General Assembly. The Secretary General will transmit these observations to the Council which will decide on the action to be taken.

5. The agenda becomes definitive when it has been approved by the General Assembly.

6. The first item of any ordinary session shall be approval of the agenda.

7. Requests for the inclusion of additional items submitted by Members during the approval of the agenda shall be forwarded to the Council for decision. The Council may decide to include the requested item in the agenda of the current or the next session or defer the matter for further consultations. Secretariat

8. The Secretary General shall provide and direct such Secretariat and other staff and facilities as may be required by the General Assembly.

9. In addition to duties described in Article 11e of the Statute, it shall be the duty of the Secretariat to receive, translate and circulate documents, reports and resolutions of the General Assembly, as required; to prepare records of the proceedings; and to perform such other work as the General Assembly may require.

Attendance at the sessions of the General Assembly

10. Representatives whose names have been communicated by Member Organizations to the Secretariat before the opening of the General Assembly may participate in it. (Maximum of three representatives per Member)

11. Members of Commissions, representatives of invited international organizations and non-member countries, or any other person interested in the work of the Association may attend as observers.

Powers and duties of Chairperson and Vice-Chairperson of the General Assembly

12. The President of the Association is the Chair of the General Assembly and if absent one of the Vice-Presidents or the member with the longest period of service in the Council. In case of equal Council seniority it is the elder member who will exercise these functions.

13. The Chair opens and closes the General Assembly, directs the discussions, accords the right to speak, puts proposals to the vote and announces decisions. The Chair can propose to the General Assembly limitations on the duration of and the number of interventions by each delegation, suspend and adjourn the General Assembly and close a debate on the item under discussion.

Voting

14. The President or a Vice President or a Council member acting as a Chairperson, shall not vote.

15. The Chair decides whether in the course of the General Assembly voting is to be by show of hands or by roll call. In the latter case the Secretary General calls the name of each Member Organization entitled to vote in alphabetical order in English. Delegates designated by Member Organizations as their official representatives shall reply "yes", "no" or "abstention."

Election of the President

16. The outgoing President, the EAAP Council or a Member Organization seconded by another Member can nominate a candidate for the post of President.
17. The Nomination of the candidates by the outgoing President or by a Member Organization seconded by another Member should be communicated to the Secretary General five days before the date of the General Assembly.
18. The President shall be elected by a simple majority of delegations present and voting.
19. The four year term of office of the newly elected President starts on the beginning of the next regular General Assembly.

Election of the Council

20. The General Assembly shall make provisions to ensure that the terms of office of Council members are reasonably evenly spread over the years.
21. In electing members of the Council the General Assembly should give due consideration to
 - a) Personal experience and qualifications of candidates;
 - b) A balanced geographic representation of members;
 - c) Ensuring the participation in the Council of such Member organizations as contribute in a large measure towards the success of EAAP; and
 - d) Giving the greatest possible number of Members an opportunity, by rotation of membership, to serve in the Council
22. The General Assembly shall, at any ordinary or extraordinary session, fill all vacancies in the Council, as provided for in Article 10.6 and 10.9 of the Statute.
23. The membership in the Council shall terminate, in addition to provisions of Article 12d of the Statutes, after
 - a) Resignation from the Council;
 - b) Resignation of the EAAP Member organization from the EAAP;
24. The President shall inform Member organizations prior to the date set for the General Assembly of vacancies on the Council.
25. The General Assembly on proposal of the Council may elect up to five Honorary Members of the Association

- f) monitor the implementation of the EAAP Statute and by-laws and consider proposals for updating and changes of such;
- g) perform such other duties as are provided for in these By-laws or the EAAP Constitution or Internal Regulations, or any other rules and regulations from time to time in force.

VII. THE SECRETARIAT

92. There shall be an EAAP Secretariat at the main seat of the Association.

93. Under the direct supervision by the Secretary General and the general guidance of the President and the Council, the Secretariat shall be entrusted with running the current affairs of the Association.

94. The Secretariat shall have the following functions:

- a) to take care of the correspondence;
- b) to run the treasury and accountancy and to ensure payment of the annual contributions;
- c) to prepare draft budgets;
- d) to file all EAAP documents;
- e) to dispatch to Member Organizations the President's letters of invitation for the General Assembly, the Council and the Board and to prepare draft agendas of their sessions;
- f) to prepare reports on the activities of EAAP for the General Assembly and for the Council;
- g) to prepare minutes of the General Assemblies and of the Council and the Board sessions;
- h) to organize the Annual Meetings and other meetings of EAAP in co-operation with the respective host countries;
- i) to carry out inquiries proposed by the Commissions and agreed upon by the Council;
- j) to look after the technical presentation of the publications;
- k) to carry out the decisions of the Council and of the Board;
- l) to represent, if required, the Association at meetings of national and international organizations;
- m) to administer the EAAP Web Site;
- n) to provide secretarial support to other international organizations, as appropriate.

95. The Secretariat shall be composed of the Secretary General and the necessary office staff.

96. The working week shall be in accordance with legislation in the host country. Statutory holidays are those kept in the country where the Secretariat is situated.

97. In addition to statutory holidays, the members of the Secretariat are entitled to a number of working days per year as vacation in conformity with the law of the country in which the Secretariat is located.

98. Individual working contracts shall be concluded by the President with the Secretary General.

99. Members of the Secretariat shall be appointed by the President on the basis of the proposal made by the Secretary General in accordance with the laws valid in the country where the seat of EAAP is located. Similar contracts by other national and international organizations having their seat in the same town can be used as guidelines.

100. From time to time the Board may review the salaries of the personnel upon the request of the Secretary General and approve adjustments in conformity with the legislation of the host country and the financial position of the Association.

101. The travel and stay expenses of the Secretary General, of the staff and of the consultants will be reimbursed following the existing office memoranda.

VIII. TERMS OF REFERENCE OF THE SECRETARY GENERAL

102. The Secretary General shall be appointed by the Council to service the General Assembly, the Council and the Board and to carry out their decisions.

103. He/she shall direct the EAAP Secretariat and choose the necessary staff under the general guidance of the President and the Council and in accordance with the EAAP Statute, by-laws, and the laws of the country hosting the EAAP Secretariat.

104. The Secretary General shall act as a custodian of the EAAP Statute and by-laws, reports and decisions of the General Assembly, the Council and the Board and reports of Council's Working Groups and Special Committees.

105. He/she shall in particular:

- a) Receive applications for admission to membership;
- b) Conduct relations of EAAP with other national and international organizations.

106. He/she shall assist the President in representing EAAP at law, in entering into all and any ordinary and extraordinary administrative transactions and in acting on behalf of the EAAP membership, as provided for in Article 14 of the EAAP Statute.

107. In this respect, he/she shall:

- a) Ensure that all decisions, By-laws and internal documents submitted for the approval by the General Assembly, the Council and the Board are in accordance with the EAAP Constitution.
- b) Subject to the general guidance of the President and the Council and in co-operation with the Vice President Ways and Means, initiate and undertake legal actions to protect EAAP assets, intellectual property rights and the use of EAAP logo and name, as required;
- c) Prepare or supervise and clear all contracts and other legal and administrative documents on all and any ordinary and extraordinary transaction for signature by the President;
- d) Perform such other duties as are provided for in these By-laws or EAAP Internal regulations, or any other rules and regulations from time to time in force.

IX. COMMISSIONS

108. Any Commission shall, either independently or jointly with other Commissions, deal with specific matters of a scientific or technical nature having to do with animal production as provided for in Article 17 of the EAAP Constitution.

109. Nine Study Commissions established by the General Assembly shall deal with basic disciplines (animal genetics, animal nutrition, animal management and health, animal physiology and livestock farming systems) and species (cattle, sheep and goat, pig and horse).

100. The Member Organizations keep the Secretariat currently informed about their delegates and alternates in the different Commissions.
111. Presidents, Vice-Presidents and Secretaries of the Commissions hold office for a term of three years and can be re-elected only once for an equal period. Only persons actually and actively engaged in the science and practice of animal production are eligible as Presidents, Vice-Presidents and Secretaries of the Commissions.
112. The sessions of the Commissions are held at the Annual Meeting of EAAP.
113. The duration of each session is jointly fixed by the Council, the Commission Presidents and the Organizing Committee of the host country.
114. A Commission may set up Sub-Commissions and Working Groups for the study of special questions and may do this jointly with another Commission, upon approval of the SAC and of the Council.
115. These Sub-Commissions and Working Groups can meet outside the Annual Meetings if the Commission President approves and if SAC and the Secretariat are informed.
120. The President or Secretary of a Commission shall inform the SAC, Council and General Assembly, as appropriate, on conclusions and recommendations adopted by the Study Commission concerned.
116. Each Commission establishes the programme of its future sessions if possible several years in advance in co-ordination with other Commissions to avoid overlapping. Basic discipline Commissions and species Commissions are encouraged to carry out joint sessions for the study of problems of common interest.
117. SAC, following Commissions' suggestions, decides on topics and nominates speakers for their sessions in agreement with the coordinators or the Member Organizations of the different countries. The Council has the right to suggest topics for discussion at Commission sessions.
118. Sessions of Commissions shall be organized according to the "Guidelines for Preparing and Conducting Sessions of Study Commissions at the Annual Meeting of EAAP".
119. Each Commission will be required to submit an annual report of its activities to the Chair of the SAC. The report will be presented to the Council and to the General Assembly for approval.
120. The reports on Study Commissions' activities submitted every year by the Commission President will be published in the official Journal of EAAP.

121. The Council shall hold joint sessions with Commissions Presidents and Secretaries on the occasion of the Annual Meeting to review the past experiences and the future work of Commissions.

122. Commission Presidents are requested to suggest to the Editor-in-chief of the official EAAP Journal papers presented in the sessions of their Commissions which are suitable for publication in this Journal. The Editor-in-chief decides, together with Commission Presidents, which of these papers can be published.

123. EAAP will not make any contributions towards the travelling expenses of Commission Presidents and Secretaries. In exceptional cases, and when the financial situation of EAAP permits, the Board may decide that EAAP should pay a part or the whole of the sum.

124. If the Council entrusts a member of a Commission with a special mission the travel expenses and per diem allowances shall be reimbursed by the Association on the same terms as those of the members of the Council.

X WORKING GROUPS

125. In pursuit of the objects of the Association, the Council may establish working groups to study specific problems not covered by Study Commissions.

126. For this purpose, it may nominate a convenor to organise early activities of the working group.

127. The Council shall determine terms of reference of each working group and nominate its members and the president on the basis of proposals made by the convenor, EAAP Members, Study Commissions and the Secretariat.

128. Terms of reference of each working group shall include organisation of workshops, publication of books within the EAAP series, dissemination of information and publication of articles and professional papers.

129. Terms of reference may also include other items related to the pursuit of the EAAP objects, such as participation in internationally funded projects and in activities carried out by other international organisations.

130. Each working group shall be responsible for provision of information for the EAAP web site.

131. In the implementation of its programme, each working group shall co-ordinate its activities with the EAAP Study Commissions.

132. Each working group shall be composed of up to six members, president, two vice presidents and a secretary.

133. Members of the working groups are nominated from among residents of the EAAP Member Countries actually and actively engaged in the science and practice of animal production. In nominating members of working groups, the Council shall take into account the equitable geographic distribution and the turn over of members.

134. Presidents are nominated for the term of three years. They can be re-nominated for another three year term. After the expiry of their term of office they may remain members of the working group.

135. Each working group shall elect vice-presidents and secretaries for the term of three years. They may be re-elected for another three years term. After the expiry of their term of office they may remain members of the working group. Terms of office of vice-presidents and secretaries begins upon the ratification of their election by the Council. Secretaries shall be elected from among early career professionals and researchers.

136. Working groups report to the Council and present their activities at the ordinary sessions of the General Assembly.

137. If the Council finds that the working group is not adequately fulfilling its tasks, it may change officers and members of working groups.

138. The Council shall close the working group upon the completion of its tasks and programmes; in case of weakened interest for subjects covered by the group; for any other reasons decided by the Council.

139. Meetings of working groups shall be convened and chaired by presidents or their nominees. Meetings shall be held in conjunction with the EAAP Annual Meetings, other activities organised by the Association and by utilisation of long-distance meeting devices. One meeting a year is required.

140. If meetings are held in conjunction with the EAAP Annual Meeting, presidents of working groups shall co-operate with the host organisers in making arrangements for the meeting.

141. The existing working groups shall adjust their terms of reference in accordance with this by-laws one year after their approval by the General Assembly.

142. Terms of office of presidents of the existing working groups shall terminate six years after their first nomination. Working groups concerned shall nominate candidates at the latest one year after the approval of these by-laws.

XI. TERMS OF REFERENCE OF THE COMMITTEE OF AUDITORS

143. The Board of Auditors shall supervise the financial management of the Association and audit the accounts for each Financial year, as provided for in Article 16 of the Constitution. In this respect, they shall in particular supervise:

- a) implementation of good accounting practices;
- b) transparency in financial management.

144. Auditors can not be members of the Council or representatives of a Member Organization in the General Assembly.

145. The two Auditors participate in the Council sessions without having the right of vote.

146. If one Auditor cannot participate in a Council session the alternate member will be invited to participate.

147. The travel and stay expenses of the Auditors can be reimbursed on the same terms as those of Council members. The travel and stay expenses of the invited alternate Auditor can be paid only if one of the regular members is not present.

148. The Auditors' report has to be sent to the Secretariat in sufficient time before the Annual Meeting in order to ensure its translation and pre-circulation.

XII. THE EAAP BY-LAWS ON THE ADMISSION OF NEW MEMBERS

149. Any representative national body working in the field of animal production of a European or non-European Mediterranean country desiring to become a member of EAAP has to submit a written application to the President of the Association.

150. The Secretariat transmits immediately the application to members of the Council.

151. If Council favours the application, the Secretariat communicates this decision to the applicant with a copy of the Constitutional Agreement of November 7th, 1949 (or updated version) for signature.

152. By signing the copy of the Constitutional Agreement the applicant formally accepts all obligations contained in it. The signed copy has to be returned to the Secretariat not later than 30 days before the next General Assembly which has to ratify this admission.

XIII THE EAAP INDIVIDUAL MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATION

153. Council may accept application of a scientist or professional involved in animal research and production.

154. The EAAP Secretariat shall inform applicants for individual membership on duties and privileges of the Fellows – Individual Members of the Association.

155 Individual Members are expected to contribute to the pursuit of the objects of the Association, inter alia through:

- a) participation in activities carried out by the Association;
- b) promoting interests of the Association;

156. Application to become Individual Members of the Association

- Applicants who are resident in EAAP member countries can apply for individual membership at no charge, save limitations imposed by the specific country member organization
- Applicants who are resident in a non-EAAP member country of Europe or Mediterranean basin (i.e. that is potentially an EAAP member country) cannot apply to individual membership
- Applicants who are resident in non-EAAP Member countries (not in Europe or in the Mediterranean basin, i.e. which is not potentially an EAAP member country) can apply to individual membership by paying an annual membership fee in the amount determined by the Council

157. Individual Members of the Association are entitled
